Adam
Barrett

Adam Barrett works to help socially responsible organizations solve wicked problems, build a more human-centered economy, and deliver positive, holistic, and tangible impact.

Adam currently serves as Senior Associate at New Power Labs, a new non-profit 'think-and-do' tank that aims to build a more inclusive and equitable financial future in Canada where currently underfunded and overlooked communities can access (financial) capital and economic opportunity.

Prior to joining New Power Labs, Adam worked on non-profit strategy and partnership development with Prosper Canada, a national charity dedicated to expanding economic opportunity for Canadians living in poverty through program and policy innovation. He also previously worked on financial inclusion in the Global South, both with the Mastercard Foundation as an organizer of the 2016 Symposium on Financial Inclusion and as a research intern with the Centre for Financial Regulation and Inclusion (Cenfri) in South Africa.

Adam holds a Master of Global Affairs from the Munk School of Global Affairs & Public Policy at the University of Toronto, where he was the school's first Queen Elizabeth Scholar, and graduated with distinction from Dalhousie University with a Bachelor of Science in economics and philosophy.
